FELLOWSHIP PLEDGE

ECOGNIZING that the American College of Surgeons seeks to develop, exemplify and enforce the highest traditions of our calling, I hereby pledge myself, as a condition of fellowship in the College, to live in strict accordance with all its principles, declarations and regulations. In particular I pledge myself to pursue the practice of surgery with thorough self-restraint and to place the welfare of my patients above all else; to advance constantly in knowledge by the study of surgical literature, the instruction of eminent teachers, interchange of opinion among associates, and attendance on the important societies and clinics; to regard scrupulously the interests of my professional brothers and seek their counsel when in doubt of my own judgment; to render willing help to my colleagues and to give freely my services to the needy. Moreover, I pledge myself, so far as I am able, to avoid the sins of selfishness; to shun unwarranted publicity, dishonest money-seeking and commercialism as disgraceful to our profession; to refuse utterly all secret money trades with consultants and practitioners; to teach the patient his financial duty to the physician and to urge the practitioner to obtain his reward from the patient openly; to make my fees commensurate with the service rendered and with the patient's rights; and to avoid discrediting my associates by taking unwarranted compensation. Finally, I pledge myself to co-operate in advancing and extending, by every lawful means within my power, the influence of the American College of Surgeons.

HISTORICAL

THE American College of Surgeons was organized at a meeting in Washington on Monday evening, May 5, 1913. Four hundred and fifty prominent surgeons of the continent of North America came together at the invitation of an Organization Committee which had been appointed by the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America at its meeting in November, 1912. This committee consisted of Edward Martin of Philadelphia, Emmet Rixford of San Francisco, John B. Murphy of Chicago, Rudolph Matas of New Orleans, Albert J. Ochsner of Chicago, Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., Frederic J. Cotton of Boston, George Emerson Brewer of New York, J. M. T. Finney of Baltimore, W. W. Chipman of Montreal, George W. Crile of Cleveland, and Franklin H. Martin of Chicago.

The invitations, which resulted in this large gathering of surgeons in Washington, were extended by the Organization Committee after a carefully prepared campaign in which each large university city on the continent was visited by a member of the committee who met, in person, a group of selected men brought together by a committee of three in each locality, which committee had been authorized by the Organization Committee to extend an invitation to the surgeons in their locality to meet the representative of the Organization Committee. These five hundred men who were invited to the meeting in Washington, four hundred and fifty of whom responded, represented all branches of surgery and surgical specialties.

At this meeting in Washington, called for the purpose of effecting an organization, the Committee on Organization presented a definite tentative plan, which plan included a call of the meeting, the presentation of by-laws, the presentation of resolutions, and a plan for the completion of the organization by the election of governing bodies and executive officers.

CALL OF THE MEETING

The men were called together by Edward Martin, Chairman of the Organization Committee, who called for the reading of the Call of the Meeting.

The Call of the Meeting was read by Franklin H. Martin, Secretary of the Committee. This call, which is herein quoted in part, summarizes the work for which, in the opinion of the committee, the American College should stand:

"First. It should formulate a minimum standard of requirements which should be possessed by any authorized graduate in medicine who is allowed to perform, independently, surgical operations in general surgery or any of its specialties.

"Second. It should consider the desirability of listing the names of those men who desire to practice surgery and who come under the authorized requirements.

"Third. It should seek the means of legalizing under national, colonial, state, or provincial laws, a distinct degree supplementing the medical degree, which shall be conferred upon physicians possessing the requirements recognized by this law as necessary to be possessed by operating surgeons.

"Fourth. It should seek coöperation with the medical schools of the continent which have the right to confer the degree of Doctor of Medicine under the present recognized standards, and urge these colleges to confer a supplementary degree on those of its graduates who have, in addition to their medical course, fulfilled the necessary apprenticeship in surgical hospitals, operative laboratories, and actual operative surgery.

"Fifth. It should authorize and popularize the use of this title by men upon whom it is conferred, and its use should especially be urged in all directories of physicians in order that the laity as well as medical men may distinguish between the men who have been authorized to practice surgery and those who have not."

The founders' organization was completed by the election of a chairman and a secretary, and the authorization of an order of business. The meeting then proceeded to complete the organization by adopting by-laws, rules and regulations, and electing governors, regents, and officers.

THE BY-LAWS

I. NAME. The name of the corporation shall be the American College of Surgeons.

II. OBJECT. The object of the College shall be to elevate the standard of surgery, to establish a standard of competency and of character for practitioners of surgery, to provide a method of granting fellowships in the organization, and to educate the public and the profession to understand that the practice of surgery calls for special training and that the surgeon elected to fellowship in this College has had such training and is properly qualified to practice surgery.

III. THE COLLEGE. 1. The College shall consist of all members of the corporation. Such members are to be designated as Fellows. The College shall vest the general management of the corporation in a Board of Governors. The Board of Governors shall, in turn, vest the details of the management in a board of trustees to be known as the Board of Regents.

2. The College shall hold an annual meeting on the day and at the place selected for the annual meeting of the Board of Governors.

IV. BOARD OF GOVERNORS. 1. The original Board of Governors shall consist of the surgeons invited by the Organization Committee to serve as founders of the College, who have qualified as Fellows. The members of this first Board of Governors shall also be known as the Founders of the American College of Surgeons.

2. The original Board of Governors shall be divided by lot into three classes to serve one, two, and three years, respectively. At the annual meeting in 1914, and at the annual meeting in each year thereafter, the Fellows of the College shall elect (in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents) fifty surgeons from among the Fellows of the College to membership on the Board of Governors, each to serve for a term of three years; thirty of these members are to be elected from a list of nominations, consisting of three members each nominated by the following sixteen surgical associations and societies of North America, and one each from the United States Army and from the United States Navy:

1. American Surgical Association.
2. Surgical Section of the American Medical Association.
3. Section on Obstetrics, Gynecology and Abdominal Surgery of the American Medical Association.
4. General Surgical Division of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.
5. Division of Surgical Specialties of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.
6. American Gynecological Society.
7. Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association.
8. Western Surgical Association.
9. Section on Surgery of the Canadian Medical Association.
10. American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.
11. American Orthopedic Association.
12. American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons.
13. American Laryngological Association.
14. American Ophthalmological Society.
15. American Otological Society.
16. American Institute of Homeopathy.

Twenty members shall be elected at large to represent surgeons of North America not affiliated with the above societies or associations. In case of failure of any of the above named organizations to make its quota of nominations, or in case of duplication of nominees, the Board of Regents shall nominate members from among the Fellows at large for the vacancies so caused in the list of nominees. The Board of Regents shall in the same manner fill all vacancies in the current membership of the Board of Governors due to death, resignation, or other causes.

3. The Board of Governors shall at its first meeting elect from among its own membership twelve who shall be members of the Board of Regents; this group shall be divided into three classes of four members each, whose terms of office shall expire in one, two, and three years, respectively. As the term of service in each class expires, their successors shall be elected, each for a term of three years. Not more than three of each class shall be selected from one country. In event of death or resignation of any member of the Board of Regents, his successor shall be elected at the next regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, but the Board of Regents may appoint a member of the Board of Governors to serve as Regent until this election takes place.

4. The Board of Governors shall meet in executive session annually for the transaction of business, which business shall include the election of members of the Board of Regents and the election of officers as provided in Article IV, Section 3, and other routine business which may be brought before it by the corporation or the Board of Regents. Such meetings shall be called by the Secretary at the direction of the Board of Regents. Special meetings of the Board of Governors may be called by the Secretary at any other time at the request of the Board of Regents. Members of the Board of Governors shall be expected to attend other formal meetings and convocations called by the Board of Regents for the purpose of conferring fellowships and the transaction of other business.

5. Fifty members of the Board of Governors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

V. Officers. The officers of the College shall be a President, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Treasurer, and a General Secretary. Such officers shall be elected by the Board of Governors from among the Fellows of the College, each for a term of one year, and shall serve until their successors are elected. The President, the General Secretary, and the Treasurer shall upon their election to office become members of the Board of Regents.

(a) The President shall preside at all regular and special meetings of the College and of the Board of Governors and at all convocations for the conferring of fellowships.

(b) The Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President, and in the event of the death or resignation of the President, shall assume the duties of that officer.

(c) The General Secretary shall keep all records of the corporation, of the Board of Governors, and of the Board of Regents, shall mail to the proper addresses all notices of regular and special meetings of the College, of the Board of Governors and of the Board of Regents, and shall have a general supervision of the business affairs of the corporation under the direction of the Board of Regents.

(d) The Treasurer shall receive all funds of the College and disburse the same on checks signed by him and countersigned by the Secretary. He shall make a report in writing to the Board of Regents at each meeting of that Board of the moneys received and expended, and shall furnish a detailed statement of the financial condition of the College at each annual meeting of the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall furnish a suitable bond to the Board of Regents for the faithful performance of his trust.

(e) In the event of the death or resignation of the General Secretary or the Treasurer, the Board of Regents shall elect his successor from among the members of the Board of Governors to serve until the next annual meeting of the Board of Governors and until such time as his successor is elected and qualified.

VI. Board of Regents. 1. The Board of Regents shall consist of the President of the corporation, the General Secretary of the corporation, the Treasurer of the corporation, and twelve members of the Board of Governors elected as hereinbefore provided.

2. The duties of the Board of Regents shall be those ordinarily performed by a board of trustees, namely: the transaction of all detail business devolving upon the Board of Governors in carrying out the object of the organization; the regulation and conserving of its property interests; the creating, appointing, and directing of all standing committees; the election of Fellows to the College; the calling of all meetings of the corporation not already provided for; the arrangement of convocations or other meetings for the conferring of fellowships; the transaction of all business not otherwise provided for, that may pertain to the organization.

3. The officers of the Board of Regents shall be a Chairman and a Secretary.

(a) The Chairman of the Board of Regents shall be elected from among the members of the Board of Regents for a term of one year and shall preside at all meetings of the Board. In the event of his death or resignation, the office shall be filled by election at the next meeting of the Board.

(b) The General Secretary of the corporation shall be the Secretary of the Board of Regents.

4. The Board of Regents shall elect the following committees:

1, Credentials; 2, Standardization of Fellowships; 3, Legislation; 4, Graduate Schools and Hospitals.

(a) Each standing committee shall consist of five members, the Chairman of which shall be a member of the Board of Regents. The other four members may be selected from the Board of Governors or from the body of Fellows of the College.

(b) Other standing committees may be elected from time to time by the Board of Regents.

5. Eight members of the Board of Regents shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

6. Regular meetings of the Board of Regents shall occur once in six months on the call of the Secretary. Special meetings may be convened at any time by the Secretary, or on a request to him made in writing and signed by thirty members of the Board of Governors, or eight members of the Board of Regents.

VII. Fellows. 1. The Fellows of the College shall be graduates in medicine who are licensed to practice medicine in their respective states and provinces, or medical officers of the federal services who have made an application for fellowship (such application being endorsed by three Fellows of the College, one of whom shall be a member of the Board of Governors), who meet the qualification requirements that shall from time to time be established by the Board of Regents, and who shall be elected to fellowship by the Board of Regents on recommendation of the Committee on Credentials, and who shall have signed the roll.

2. Each individual elected to fellowship in the College shall be designated as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and shall be authorized and encouraged to use the letters F. A. C. S. after his name on professional cards, in professional directories, and in articles published in surgical literature.

VIII. Fees. An initial fee of twenty-five dollars shall be required of each Fellow of the College on his election to fellowship by the Board of Regents. A fee of five dollars, payable on the first day of January, shall be required each year thereafter for five years. A payment of fifty dollars at entrance shall relieve the Fellow of further payments.

IX. Publications. The Board of Regents shall issue each year a directory containing the names and addresses of the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons arranged by states, provinces, and colonies.

X. Any Fellow of the College may be expelled for conduct which in the opinion of the Board of Regents is derogatory to the dignity of the College or inconsistent with its purposes. Such expulsion must be voted by a majority vote of the whole Board of Regents at any meeting, at which meeting the Fellow against whom charges are made shall be invited to be present, and may appear or may be represented, in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents.

XI. These by-laws may be amended by a majority vote of those present at any regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, or at a meeting called for the purpose on request made in writing by a hundred members of the corporation, provided that such proposed amendments are included in the call of the meeting at which such action is contemplated.

CORNELIUS J. DOYLE, Secretary of State

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greeting:

WHEREAS, a CERTIFICATE, duly signed and acknowledged has been filed in the Office of the Secretary of State, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1912, for the organization of the under and in accordance with the provisions of "AN ACT CONCERNING CORPORATIONS" approved April 18, 1872, and in force July 1, 1872, and all acts amendatory thereof, a copy of which certificate is hereto attached;

Now Therefore, I, CORNELIUS J. DOYLE, Secretary of State, of the State of Illinois, by virtue of the powers and duties vested in me by law, do hereby certify that the said is a legally organized Corporation under the laws of this State.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I hereto set my hand and cause to be affixed the great Seal of State. Done at the City of Springfield this 25th day of November, A. D. 1912, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

[SEAL] (Signed) C. J. DOYLE, Secretary of State.

METHOD OF SELECTING FELLOWS

The Board of Regents at its earlier meetings announced that it would be the spirit of the association to open the fellowship to all competitors in surgery without favor. The Board of Regents is anxious to have every surgeon on the continent who can fulfill the membership requirements become a Fellow of the organization. The General Secretary was therefore instructed to send application blanks to any legally qualified practitioner of medicine on the American continent who may signify his desire to become a member.

The by-laws specifically state that the Fellows of the College "shall be graduates in medicine who are licensed to practice medicine in their respective states or provinces and who meet the qualification requirements that shall from time to time be established by the Board of Regents."

It was determined by the organization to admit surgeons to fellowship under two groupings: First, the charter members, consisting of surgeons of distinction and ability who have been in the practice of medicine not less than eight years and who, in the opinion of the Board of Regents, should be entitled to fellowship without the formality of an examination; second, those who should be required to submit to an examination or other test of qualification required by the Board of Regents. It was decided to limit the time of admission of the first group or charter members to November 1, 1914, and to postpone the admission of Fellows by examination until the Board of Regents had formulated detailed plans of a satisfactory nature for admission by this method, not earlier than November 1, 1914.

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR ADMISSION OF CHARTER MEMBERS

At its meeting held in Washington at the time of the third convocation, the Board of Regents voted that the rules governing admission to fellowship that had been in effect previous thereto should apply to all candidates of the charter member list whose applications had been filed before November 1, 1914.

APPLICATION FOR FELLOWSHIP

The application blanks are uniform and each candidate for fellowship is required to file an application blank filled out in detail and signed. The blank contains the fellowing questions:

Name. Address. Place and date of birth.
What school, academy, college or university did you attend? Date of graduation? Degrees?
What medical college or colleges did you attend? Date of graduation? Degrees?
In what hospitals have you been an interne, resident or assistant? From———to———?
In what hospitals have you been a staff member and in what capacity?
In what teaching capacity have you been active?
What other appointments have you had?
What post-graduate studies have you pursued in America and where?
What post-graduate studies have you pursued abroad and where?
What official positions have you held?
How many years in special practice and where?
What department of special practice?
What percentage of your work is surgical?
What research or experimental work have you done?
Of what medical societies are you a member?
Give the names of five prominent surgeons as references, at least three of whom are from your own state.
Give the names of books and contributions to medical and surgical literature of which you are the author, with date and place of publication.

Date———————————

The application papers contain a separate declaration against the practice of fee-splitting. This is in the nature of a personal pledge, and each applicant is required to attach his signature to it and file it with his papers.

This declaration is prefaced by an explanatory preamble that reads as follows:

> At the meeting in Washington when the American College of Surgeons was founded, the question was asked whether the College would positively exclude surgeons who were suspected of fee-splitting or paying commissions in any form whatsoever. The President declared that no one should be admitted who was suspected of being guilty of this pernicious practice. This declaration was received with universal and most enthusiastic applause.
> It does not seem possible that many men who would otherwise be eligible can belong to the class of fee-splitters, but the fact that the matter was so much emphasized has induced the Committee on Credentials to prepare the following positive declaration, which will be filed in connection with the credentials of each Fellow.
> If the College succeeds in eliminating this evil, the public will be enormously benefited.
> Very respectfully,
> COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS.

DECLARATION

I hereby promise upon my honor as a gentleman that I will not, so long as I am a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, practice division of fees in any form; neither by collecting fees for others referring patients to me; nor by permitting them to collect my fees for me; nor will I make joint fees with physicians or surgeons referring patients to me for operation or consultation; neither will I in any way, directly or indirectly, compensate any one referring patients to me; nor will I utilize any man as an assistant as a subterfuge for this purpose.

REFERENCE BLANK

While the by-laws require that an applicant give three endorsers, the Committee on Credentials now recommends that five names be given, three of which should be from the applicant's own state. The reference blank contains the following information questions:

Name. Address. College and date of graduation.

1. How long have you known the applicant?
2. What is his surgical standing in the profession?
3. What is his experience as a surgeon?
4. How extensively does he specialize?
5. What special training in surgery has he had?
6. What is his moral standing in his community?
7. What is his ethical standing?
8. Do you believe he will carry out in practice the spirit of the enclosed declaration?
9. Do you believe from your knowledge of the applicant's life that we can accept in good faith his fulfillment of the principles involved in the enclosed declaration if signed by him?
10. Do you believe he is in every way qualified for fellowship in the American College of Surgeons?
11. Remarks.

COMMITTEES ON CREDENTIALS

The Board of Regents has authorized Committees on Credentials consisting of the Central Committee, which reports directly to the Board of Regents, and State and Provincial Committees, which report to the Central Committee on Credentials.

The Central Committee on Credentials holds its meeting in the office of the College, where the members can have access to all papers and correspondence filed in connection with each candidate.

The State and Provincial Committees, each consisting of from five to seven members, are located in nearly every state in the United States and in four divisions of Canada.

The name of each applicant for fellowship, together with the names of his references, are sent by the Central Committee on Credentials to the State or Provincial Committee which has jurisdiction over the territory in which the candidate resides, and this local committee, after consideration, makes its recommendations to the Central Committee.

When an applicant's papers are complete, including a report from each of the references given and from the State Committee on Credentials, the Central Committee on Credentials takes up the application for final consideration and recommendation.

When the candidate has successfully passed the final scrutiny of the Central Committee on Credentials, he is recommended to the Board of Regents for election to fellowship. If, on the other hand, the candidate's papers are found defective or his qualifications are considered below the standard for fellowship required by the College, the Committee on Credentials notifies the candidate to that effect.

ADMISSION BY EXAMINATION

The above routine of procedure applies to Fellows accepted under the charter member arrangement. Other candidates for fellowship will receive, in addition to the formal application blanks referred to in the preceding paragraphs, blanks furnished by the Committee on Examination upon which the applicant can record a summary of his surgical work and give detailed information as to his educational qualifications before and after his graduation in medicine.

The following tentative plan has been adopted by the Board of Regents to govern the admission to fellowship of candidates whose applications had been filed subsequent to November 1, 1914:

1. Evidence that applicant has served at least one year as a hospital interne and three years as assistant, or one year as first assistant to a surgeon of recognized ability and with an adequate hospital service. From those who were graduated before 1915 an equivalent surgical experience shall be acceptable, especial importance being attached to laboratory and research work.

2. Evidence that he has visited other surgical clinics and laboratories than those to which he has been officially appointed, giving the dates of such visits, the time spent, and a brief summary of the work witnessed or performed.

3. An abstract of at least fifty consecutive major operations which he has himself performed, this abstract to contain the name and address of the doctor or consultant referring the case; the pre-operative diagnosis; the anæsthetic given, by whom, the quantity and the time of administration; the date of operation, and a brief description of it, with a note of the time required for its performance, calculated from the first incision to the beginning of the application of the dressing; the post-operative course, and a mention of complications, if such occurred; not only those conditions usually classed as such, but consecutive bleeding which calls for measures directed toward its control, hæmatoma of sufficient extent to require evacuation or drainage or suppuration, as slight even as a stitch abscess, are to be regarded as complications; the condition on discharge from the hospital with subsequent course of the case up to the date of application for membership, or as near this as is practicable. The applicant shall supplement his individual report of operations by a further abstract report of at least fifty cases in which he has acted as assistant.

4. All applicants for fellowship to the American College of Surgeons whose date of graduation is 1920 or later shall be graduates from medical schools which shall have demanded of their matriculates two years of collegiate training, or the equivalent, including biology, chemistry, and physics. If the candidate's school of graduation be not accredited by the American College of Surgeons, he shall be required to pass a technical examination.

5. Surgeons widely recognized by the profession as leaders of progress and exponents of finished technique, by a unaminous vote of the Board of Regents may be admitted to fellowship on recommendation of the Committee on Examination.

ENDOWMENT FUND

From the report of the General Secretary read at the First Annual Meeting, held in Washington, November 16, 1914.

"We have now reached in the history of our organization the stage of administration and development. We are about to put into execution a method of admitting the future Fellows to the College.

"You have learned from the report of the committee just read to you that the test of eligibility to membership will not be along the lines of simply passing a quiz examination, but will consist of a plan that will bring to light the candidate's qualifications as a surgeon from the standpoint of fundamental education, professional education, hospital advantages, a consideration of the number of years spent in the practice of surgery, with actual evidence submitted of the definite amount of work accomplished, and evidence as to the class of laboratory or hospital in which the work was performed.

"The effect of these requirements is to place upon our shoulders an enormous responsibility. We become, indirectly, censors of medical schools, hospitals, laboratories, methods of diagnosis and of care of patients, and record-keeping. With a strong grip we take hold of surgeon-making on this continent from the time the prospective surgeon as a student enters his literary course of study, through his professional school, his hospital interneship, his assistantship, and his early years of independent practice.

METHOD OF ADMINISTRATION

"The crux of our problem now is: How are we going to carry out our comprehensive plans? It seems to me, first, we must obtain a group of men, each of whom is in sympathy with our whole problem, but each of whom is particularly interested in one phase of it, so much interested that he will be willing to give a certain definite amount of time to its consideration; second, we should place in charge of our entire educational campaign a trained educator who, under the advice of our Board of Regents and in coöperation with the group of men referred to above, will, like the president of a university, devote his entire time to the administration of the College; third, this director of the College, with the group of surgeons coöperating with him in the capacity of a cabinet, would especially have charge of publicity matter that shall be distributed, and would constitute the Examining Board of the College.

"To be more definite — we should secure four surgeons of peculiar adaptability, chosen for a definite term of service and pledged to devote at least six weeks each year to the exclusive work of the College, and to coöperate with the executive officer and office. One of these four men should urge upon hospitals through their lay boards and medical staffs the necessity of meeting our requirements; one should be keenly interested in the problem of urging universities to comply with our standards; one, a trained laboratory man, should prepare a minimum requirement for the surgical laboratory work to which our Fellows must conform; one should critically look after the legislative measures in which surgeons should be interested. Such a strong combination as our administrative board, constantly working out our problems, would succeed in keeping all questions pertaining to the College well in hand, would keep in close touch with our candidates, and would enlighten, through the proper methods, the public and the profession as to our plans and our endeavors to improve the standard of surgery.

"This plan, which seems to be the one suggested that meets the approval of the Board of Regents, has one serious drawback. That drawback is of a kind that often figures in the conduct of enterprises, viz., inadequate financial resources.

PRESENT FINANCIAL STATUS

"The legitimate income of the American College of Surgeons on its present basis is less than $15,000 a year for a period of less than five years. After that time the fees of the present Fellows will be paid and the income from a similar source will be slight. As it is, the present income will little more than pay the running expenses of a very modest executive office, and is far too meager to provide for a salary to an executive head and per diems and traveling expenses to four competent professional men for six weeks' service each year.

"In order to have our organization of the greatest possible value to mankind, and to have it endure without a possibility of a doubt, it is very desirable that we at once put it upon a financial basis that will make it possible to do its immediate work adequately and forever place it beyond pecuniary need.

"To be safe, independent, and financially adequate, commensurate with the personnel, ideals, and future possibilities of our organization, we should make provision for an immediate permanent income of $50,000 a year. This administrative fund should come from a permanent endowment fund, invested in perpetuity for the benefit of the College.

ENDOWMENT PLAN

"At our informal mass meeting in June, 1914, we submitted a proposition to a minority of our Fellows which called for the raising of an endowment fund from among the charter members of the College of one million dollars. It was proposed that this sum should be invested in perpetuity and only the interest be used for the executive work of the organization. Each Fellow was asked to subscribe five hundred dollars. It was understood that all subscriptions should be contingent on our raising five hundred thousand dollars by December 1st of this year, the first payment on the subscription to be made January 1, 1915.

"One hundred and thirteen thousand dollars, or subscriptions from two hundred and twenty-six Fellows, were received, and it was the intention to push the plan among those Fellows who were absent from the mass meeting, after the summer vacations. The war decided the Regents to ask those who had made subscriptions to give their mutual consent to extend the time for obtaining the subscription one year, or until December 1, 1915, and the beginning for the payment of the subscription to January 1, 1916. This extension has been agreed to.

"Our subscription plan is a promise to pay in the form of a note-pledge, with a discretionary provision to pay in installments, the entire amount at one time, or to have the entire amount stand in the form of a promissory note, interest to be paid on all balances at the rate of five per cent per annum."

FORM OF SUBSCRIPTION

ENDOWMENT FUND

I hereby subscribe Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars to the Endowment Fund of the American College of Surgeons, the amount to be paid as follows:

Jan. 1916	$	Jan. 1918	$	Jan. 1920	$
Jan. 1917	$	Jan. 1919	$

I further agree to pay interest on the balances due on this pledge at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, beginning January 1, 1916. It is further agreed that this subscription shall be void unless the subscription to the Endowment Fund equals $500,000 by December 1, 1915.

*Signed*_____

_____ *19*___ *Address*_____

The Board of Regents now respectfully urges that the Fellows accept its judgment as to the necessity of raising this endowment fund and asks that each Fellow make a subscription to the fund at an early date. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from the office of the General Secretary. In the judgment of the Board, further, the sacrifice which the subscription may impose upon any Fellow of the College will be slight in comparison with the prestige which will accrue to the organization as a result of adequate endowment. It is only by a generous response of the Fellows to this appeal now that the College may advance toward that "vision" so splendidly conceived for surgery upon this continent.

In connection with this subscription it should be understood that the amount of the initial fellowship fee, $25.00, and the sum of the five subsequent payments of $5.00 each, to the extent paid, may be deducted from the first payment on the endowment subscription.

CONVOCATIONS

FIRST AND SECOND

The first convocation was held in the Gold Room of the Congress Hotel in Chicago on November 13th, 1913. The fellowship address was delivered by Sir Rickman J. Godlee, Bart., President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Fellowships were conferred upon 1059 candidates and honorary fellowships upon the following: Sir Rickman J. Godlee, Bart., London, England; W. W. Keen, Philadelphia; William S. Halsted, Baltimore; J. Collins Warren, Boston; Robert F. Weir, New York.

At the second convocation held in the Ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, June 22nd, 1914, fellowships were conferred upon 1065 candidates. The fellowship address was delivered by Dr. James G. Mumford. Honorary fellowships were conferred upon the following: Edmond Souchon, New Orleans; Francis J. Shepherd, Montreal; Thomas Addis Emmett, New York.

THIRD CONVOCATION

The third convocation of the American College of Surgeons was held in Memorial Continental Hall in Washington, D.C., on the evening of November 16th, 1914.

PROGRAM

7:30—Fellows and Guests assemble.
7:40—Governors assemble.
7:45—Candidates for Fellowship assemble.
8:00—Regents assemble with Honorary Fellows and Guests.
Invocation by His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons.
Introductory Remarks by the President, J. M. T. Finney.
Presentation of the Roll of Candidates for Fellowship.
Conferring of Fellowships by the President.
Introduction of Honorary Fellows individually by the Regents and conferring of Fellowships by the President.
Fellowship Address by Edward H. Bradford.
Concluding Remarks by the President.
Adjournment followed by an informal reception to the Fellows and Guests by the Officers of the College.

The President, Dr. J. M. T. Finney, in his introductory remarks, announced that subscriptions to the endowment fund of one million dollars, which proposition had been presented to the College at its annual meeting, now amounted to approximately $250,000. He predicted that the full sum would be easily secured before the next annual meeting in 1915.

The Secretary, Dr. Franklin H. Martin, before presenting the roll of candidates, conveyed to the Fellows of the College a greeting from Sir Rickman Godlee, President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, who came from England at the time of the first convocation to assist in the inauguration of the American College. This greeting included the presentation of a handsome gavel which had been prepared by Sir Rickman Godlee as a gift to the College, and upon which the following sentiment was inscribed:

> This mallet was devised and used by Lord Lister and is presented to the American College of Surgeons by Sir Rickman Godlee, then P.R.C.S., England, in memory of his visit to Chicago, November, 1913.

The President, in receiving this token of friendship, spoke of the great honor that Sir Rickman Godlee had conferred upon the American College of Surgeons by his visit and his address of one year ago, and of his pleasure in receiving this beautiful gavel which linked us with the Royal College of Surgeons, with Sir Rickman Godlee and his illustrious uncle, Lord Lister, and ordered that the gavel be forever preserved in the archives of the American College.

The Secretary then presented the roll of Honorary Fellows and of Fellows. The list of Fellows numbered six hundred forty-six.

The Honorary Fellows were then introduced in turn by members of the Board of Regents, as follows:

Dudley P. Allen of Cleveland, introduced by Harry M. Sherman; William C. Gorgas of Washington, introduced by Charles F. Stokes; Lewis Stephen Pilcher of Brooklyn, introduced by George E. Brewer; Sir Thomas George Roddick of Montreal, introduced by George E. Armstrong; J. William White of Philadelphia, introduced by Edward Martin.

The President then conferred the Honorary Fellowships.

FELLOWSHIP ADDRESS

Doctor Edward H. Bradford of Boston was introduced by President J. M. T. Finney, and delivered the formal address to the American College of Surgeons. This address, which is here furnished in abstract, will be printed in full for distribution to the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons and to members of the profession.

THE HIGHER EDUCATION IN SURGERY

(Abstract)

The American College of Surgeons has shown such remarkable vigor in its development that there is every reason to believe that it will become a most important agency in the advancement of American surgery.

It has been said by those who undertake to study the American people that the typical American, although energetic, resourceful, and venturesome, lacks a knowledge of fundamentals. He has the defects as well as the virtues of the pioneer. Are these traits characteristic of the American surgeon? If they are, the fact should be reckoned with in our plans for the training and education of our surgeons. We should foster the energy of the pioneer and give to him the fundamental knowledge needed by a master.

The product of the American system of educating surgeons has been excellent. There have been developed some remarkable men and as alert and resourceful a body of skilled surgeons as can be found in any country. But can we claim to have produced many of those who have done most to influence the surgical thought of the world? We can claim the American, Ephraim McDowell, but we have yet to produce a Lister.

In this connection, it is interesting to reflect upon how much more America, a professedly peaceful country, has done to revolutionize the science and art of war than the human art of surgery. The advance in open order, field entrenchment for the attacking army, the use of cavalry in long raids on the enemy's lines and as mounted infantry, improved implements of war, the rifle, the automatic pistol, the Hotchkiss gun, and in naval warfare, the ironclad, lateral shell firing, the torpedo, the mine, the submarine,—all are products of American invention, or first shown to be of value by American example. The field telegraph, the heliograph, the telephone, and the American invention, the flying machine, have revolutionized war. During the same period surgery has been revolutionized, but how much can we justly claim has America contributed to the marvelous change wrought in the last fifty years?

There is another criticism of our present-day surgery, applicable to all modern surgery, but perhaps more so to surgery in this country. It is claimed that surgery today is overdone; that, as in the past there was polypharmacy, today there is polysurgery, and that there is danger of needless, heedless operating.

Do not modern conditions favor the development of surgery of this type rather than the training of the surgeon who knows when not to operate? It is unquestionably the function of this organization to promote the development of surgeons who are not simply hands for such general practitioners as, unable to make a diagnosis or direct further treatment, turn for help to their more venturesome colleagues. There should be surgeons of broad minds thoroughly familiar with methods of diagnosis and capable of forming a judicial opinion as to the relative value of both operative and non-operative treatment.

American surgery will be advanced if there are developed in this large country of ours several foci where the art of surgery is practiced and taught in the highest degree of excellence. It is a great satisfaction to the observer to see already centers developed where the work is worthy of the careful consideration of the leading surgeons of the world. An increase in the number of these places where the science of surgery is investigated and the art of surgery efficiently practiced cannot fail to produce results which will, in time, claim leadership in surgical thought.

A few words only are needed in regard to the question of what may be termed surgical ethics, a subject which cannot be ignored by an association like the American College of Surgeons which is to maintain the standards of our profession.

If it is borne in mind the great opportunity which exists for the gross misuse of the power the surgeon holds, it might seem extraordinary that so little of gross commercialism or base malpractice exists. The surgeon at the head of a small private hospital has power greater than that of a czar. Under an organization trained by himself, with no one but his attendants to criticize his activities, he wields a power controlled only by his conscience and his higher instincts. There can be no compromise in this matter. Any one practicing the art and science of surgery who is unmindful of the high responsibilities and duties of his profession should receive immediately the condemnation of his fellows. The true surgeon should be, like Caesar's wife, "above suspicion"; he must be above reproach.

It can be said that the occasion is ripe for the higher development of surgery in America. How long the present Balkanization of Europe is to continue and how much chaos is to result, no one can tell, but it is certain that the Mexicanization of North America will stop at the Rio Grande. If we have peace, we have also the responsibilities which come with the blessings of peace, and these are to be regarded as held in trust by us for the benefit of the human race.

It is not simply in the carrying trade or as bankers that we should aspire to leadership. Primacy in the noblest and most humane science and art comes to us now as a duty.

Modern surgery may be said to have begun in France over a hundred years ago through the leadership of a brilliant group of surgeons, who were followed by an illustrious school of British surgeons. Then came the wonderful rise of German surgery to which we are all such debtors. Are we to remain followers, provincials, notable chiefly for our ability to adopt the example and teaching of others?

In the literature of our art there are names before which we all do reverence, Dupuytren, Larry, Nélaton, Brodie, Paget, Lister, von Langenbeck, Billroth, Volkmann. What names are to be written now upon the open book of the history of surgery? Is there not a page ready for the names of great Americans who will give to the noble art of surgery a luster never known before?

ACADEMIC ROBE

After careful consideration of the matter, and in view of the fact that important convocations at which new fellowships will be conferred will occur each year, the Board of Regents adopted a distinct fellowship gown which, in their opinion, will add dignity, uniformity, and academic distinction to the formal gatherings.

The gown adopted consists of a body of navy blue mohair. A scarlet velvet facing five inches wide extends around the neck and down each side of the front. The cap is of the same material as the gown, with a scarlet tassel.
